Dear Sue:

Re: Nancy Vernon: August 9, 2004 letter to Brian Malarky, Executive Ethics Board

Dr. Robert Carkhuff and I have worked together beginning 1965 in Springfield, Massachusetts at American International College up to the present. Our work in the college involved teaching and community organizing thus integrating theory into practice. My primary role was to apply the theory while Dr. Carkhuff's role was to carryout the research and write the findings. We have shared and continue to share many ideas and thoughts. He has graciously integrated some of my work with his consequently my name being placed as a co-author on some of the work that was published.

I have read the above complaint and unequivocally state that there is no conflict of interest nor have I participated in the awarding of any contract or received any monies from the sale of the books identified.

Please feel free to contact me if additional information is needed.

Sincerely,

Andrew H. Griffin, Jr. Ed. D.

Dear Ms. Jones:

In response to your questions regarding my role in working with Dr. Robert Carkhuff in the development of the Monograph entitled "Possibilities Schools," the following is provided.

- I participated in discussions of where schools of the future needed to be and assisted in an outline of several possible directions and scenarios.
- Dr. Carkhuff incorporated a number of these ideas in his development of the monograph.
- Dr. Carkhuff wanted to acknowledge my contributions and listed me as a co-author.
- I did not know about his listing of me as a co-author until a copy of the book was sent to me.
- I did not nor have I ever received any compensation for my role in contributing ideas to this monograph or any other of Dr. Carkhuff's publications or project activities.

If there are any other questions I can answer, feel free to call on me.

Sincerely,

Shirley McCune
